What is Epoch 1, Epoch 2 and Epoch 3?

(Updated 10/25/20)

We get a lot of questions about Epoch 1-3 and what they really mean. These are differe infrastructure supporting them. I called them Epochs because they seemed to follow a d for updates. They do not share C2 infrastructure and they can behave independently. In the rules governing to Emotet's Botnets/Epochs:

1. All C2 combos are hard coded in a list of up to 127 C2 combos in a given Epoch's lo between Epochs. E1-E2-E3 will all have a unique list of IPs/Ports(Combos) per Epoch. (I
2. Module C2s are also unique per Epoch and usually are former C2 Combos that were pub the special purpose of the module for that Epoch. (Usually updated once per week)
3. All Epochs have a unique RSA Public key that is used to communicate and decode mess listed in the daily reports. Using CAPE's excellent Emotet Extraction module you can e
4. All Epochs will use a unique location for distribution downloads. You will never see distro tier 1 host used for a different botnet. e.g. host A may be used for distributi and you may also see E2 documents hosted out of /wp-sucks/Y/. You will never see E1-E3

5. Spam from each Epoch will be used to add new bots to that Epoch. While there have been bots on the distro side, Epoch 1 spam will be used to create more Epoch 1 bots, Epoch 2 spam will be used to create more Epoch 2 bots, Epoch 3 spam will be used to create more Epoch 3 bots.

6. Macro Documents from a given Epoch will always contain 5-8 URLs(Quintet,Sextet,Septet) from that same Epoch.(There have been very rare exceptions to this rule but in general this is the case)

7. Macro Documents from a given Epoch will have the same Creation Time for a given Quintet of the origin of the document per Epoch. When the Creation Time metadata changes for a given Epoch, it indicates a new set of loader URLs.

8. Malspam Templates are usually unique to a given Botnet/Epoch. They may later be shared with other botnets, but when they are run, they are usually run on a single botnet. Example would be the Ransomware one - https://paste.cryptolaemus.com/emotet/2020/12/22/emotet-malware-loCs_12-22-20.html

9. Bot can be transferred from Epoch to Epoch and we have seen this over time. Normally, a bot is transferred deliberately for the C2 update.

10. Macro Document Creation times usually change on Epoch 2 first and then shortly thereafter on Epoch 3. This is usually the primary botnet for Ivan/Emotet and they put changes on this botnet first.

Daily Log

This report was gathered by @JRoosen and @ps66uk:

@JRoosen here - We saw continued spamming today on all 3 botnets and we started to see what was Operation Zip Lock all day long. E2 was primarily link based all day. E3 started as link based and then moved on to more Operation Zip Lock. I have a feeling Ivan may be done but I won't know until tomorrow of course. We heard reports of malspam basically hitting all over the world in all major languages. In all a pretty medium to heavy spam day.

Our good friend Randy Pargman @rpargman noticed something interesting about the current situation with our team and the community. The summary of it is the following in his words: "Depending on what's normal in your enterprise environment, you may be able to detect and look for rundll32.exe processes with command lines ending in ,RunDLL or ,#1 If there are many such invocations, this could be a useful detection rule with a little tuning."

Indeed it does seem that #1 as an ordinal is strange but you will want to test this in your environment if it works for you.

Wow I am really tired and you will have to excuse the brevity today, I need to sleep more.

Emotet Domain Bucket

NEW - Created a pastebin of all domains used from 08/14/20+: This is sorta like the Emotet distro by Emotet either Doc or Exe downloads. They are piled together and deduped for your choice. CAUTION - Use at your own risk! While every effort is made to make this data valid, there is no guarantee that none of these compromised sites actually being legitimately being used.

374 recorded domains today used in Emotet distro. 281 of those were determined to be unique. The previous total was 9,495 unique domains and this brings us up to 9,776 domains used. How many Domain's since 8/14? that is right OVER 9,000!

<https://pastebin.com/raw/u8avFVD6>

Note: They started to use enough IPs that I figured I would just keep them in the list versus the FQDN (if one even exists).

Emotet Hash Bucket

Hashes are starting to gain momentum as is normal with the second day of a week.

Yesterday we had a total of 9377 and we added another 15,939 today for docs/dlls/exes.

Total hashes as of 2020/12/21+ now 25,316:

<https://pastebin.com/raw/02sFmbDB>

Note - Everytime it gets close to 64k hashes, pastebin seems to have issues dealing with it. We are also looking for a better solution to this rather than Pastebin. Stay tuned.

Email Template Report

As promised here are some facts we have gathered on Operation Zip Lock: (Most of this is

Operation Zip Lock is essentially password protected zips being attached to Emotet Malware used to spam Emotet. This tactic has evolved over time but was seen starting in at least these are usually only some of the attachment based malspams at any given time. Here are

1. By far, this tactic is used to target Japan and most often on E3. (at least until now)
2. We are seeing templates in at least Dutch/English/French/German/Italian/Japanese
3. The passwords in the Japanese templates are usually enclosed in brackets and is alphanumeric
4. The passwords in the English Templates are usually just numeric from what we have seen
5. The passwords are in the body of the emails and have been seen with the following patterns

Japanese Examples:

"=E3=83=91=E3=82=B9=E3=83=AF=E3=83=BC=E3=83=89=EF=BC=9A[GGE60fmI]" - This is the most common

"=E3=83=91=E3=82=B9=E3=83=AF=E3=83=BC=E3=83=89=EF=BC=9AUIzBZxV5v" - seeing some now with

"=E3=83=91=E3=82=B9=E3=83=AF=E3=83=BC=E3=83=89: 13948" - This series has a regex that

French Examples:
"Mot de passe: 4397809869" - This is the more complex series with [0-9a-zA-Z]{5,
"Mot de passe: 7447"

English Examples:
"Archive pass: 8578" - This series has a regex that is pure numbers [0-9]{3,5}

"The password for the document is LQWMFXu" -This is the more complex series with
"The file is password protected - p6z88n0K" -This is the more complex series with [0-9a-zA-Z]{5,10}
"Password: th5cs3rHf"
"Password for ZIP:"
"Zip file attached to email: Very urgent information from 24-09-2020.zip"

- 6. The password is reused for many users and is static in groups.
- 7. These are seen on E1-E3 as of last week but this has primarily been used on E3 and I
- 8. One other thing to note is that the documents that are inside of the ZIP are not di that epoch's spam at a given time. That is to say they will be the same creation/modif: payloads in the macro.
- 9. On 09/23/20 - ~9%-12% of total emails sent on E1/E2/E3 had attachments that were .z:
- 10. The file names vary widely and I would not be confident to block just on this alone -23-20.zip and everything in between.
- 11. We heard and seen numerous incidents where the password was wrong and just didn't i

Well we are stretched kinda thin on the Cryptolaemus side with a lot of us on Holiday/Vacation so we appologize for any missing material you have come to depend on but the goods for the year are here. Hopefully Ivan is done now and sees that it is time to hang it up until next year. Several months ago we did a test run of things to do the DLL deployment method and we saw a preview of next year's stuff.

We want to extend our sincere thanks to @waga_tw for catching so much lately and helping us get it reported to URLHaus immediately. Thank you!!!!
